

NAME:

Mia "Wrench" Rodriguez

NATIONALITY:

San Hermanos

BIO:

Mia was born on San Hermanos. She always had a knack for everything mechanical. From earliest childhood, she loved taking things apart and putting them back together. When Salvador Primo took over, her father started to oppose the regime. His family got exiled and he died in prison. To avenge him, Mia started training with a paramilitary group in return for being their mechanic, becoming a decent shot in the process. She still has a lot to learn, but she is a quick study. Now, she feels ready to return home to settle old scores.

TAGLINES:

- Let's loosen some screws! Or tighten them. Whatever hurts them more.
- Let's do this! I was already getting bored.
- (friendly, happy tone:) I've got presents for you! They are small and shiny and (dark tone:) they are gonna blow your mind.

QUIRKS/ADDITIONAL INFO:

It might be better to find her in San Hermanos, and help her settle a score, before hiring her. She's obviously not gonna be too happy, if things in her country go wrong or if you come across a member of the old regime. She may have some anecdotes along the way.

DESCRIPTION/APPEARANCE:

The appearance should obviously fit with other San Hermanos characters. I imagine for now: A rather strongly built, but still feminine, dark skin colour, possibly black. Rather round face, dark hair
